

Jelena Angelis

Dr Jelena Angelis is Research Director and Principal Researcher at European Future Innovation System (EFIS) Centre in Brussels, bringing nearly 20 years of experience in the research and innovation policy formation, implementation and monitoring. Over the last ten years many of her assignments covered global, European, national and institutional Research Infrastructures (RIs) of various sizes, affiliation, and scientific fields. Most recently Jelena was part of the H2020 project RI-PATHS developing and testing a novel methodology to assess socio-economic impacts of investments into RIs. She was also a member of the European Commission's DG RTD's High Level Expert Group assessing the progress of ESFRI and Other World Class Research Infrastructures towards implementation and long-term sustainability (in 2019-2020) and a member of the OECD Expert Group on socio-economic impacts of RIs (in 2017-2018). Jelena holds a PhD and MPhil from the University of Cambridge (Judge Business School); Master's and Bachelor's degrees in economics from Vilnius University (Lithuania).
